Problem

Main problem: cooking

- For sick people

  People can have some stomach related health problems

- For chefs

  There is no online platform where chefs can sell their recipes currently in the market

- For professionals

  Most of the people are busy and do not have time to cook by themselves, think about the recipes

Solution

Develop a web application which helps in cooking

- For sick people

  An application will have a section for them to get special healthy foods.

- For chefs

  In our platform, there is a feature that allows them to sell their recipes with low commission.

- For professionals

  We can recommend daily good nutrition, integration with food delivery services

Our deliverables and success criteria

The main result of our project is to enter the world market and become a competitor to such projects as BBC good food, and the implementation of its unique functions and with the help of them to realize market dominance.
